

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A chip impeder includes a body including a mixture of ferrite powder and a resin. At least one coil electrode is disposed in the body. The ferrite powder and the resin are selected so that the cross point of the impedance in the frequency-impedance characteristic lies in the range of about 1 GHz and higher.

20070617 021903